

Atlantic City Train Plunged From A Bridge

Death Roll Estimated At
From Seventy To Eighty

(Bulletin Special.)
Atlantic City, N.J., Oct. 29.—In a railway wreck near here today from 75 to 80 people were killed. Three cars jumped the track and dashed into the thoroughfare. The bodies are in the three cars which are submerged in the water and divers and wreckers are at work extricating them. A wrecking train from Philadelphia is on hand and an attempt is being made to raise the submerged cars. High tide set in after the accident. The Royal Military band was on board and are supposed to have been all saved but two. When the train left the rails it was running at high speed, according to some persons, as fast as 40 miles an hour. A defective rail is believed to have been responsible for the train leaving the track. The cries of the imprisoned passengers as the coaches plunged into the water did not last long and when the tops of the first two cars disappeared from view not a sound more was heard. Details as to just how the horrible accident happened are most vague. A circumstantial statement cannot be obtained from any of the rescued passengers and perhaps a clear idea will never be had. Two causes have been assigned for the derailment of the train. One is that the rails spread and were not properly locked when the drawbridge was closed after a pleasure yacht which had just passed through. Daniel B. Stewart, the bridge tender, whose work it is no condition to talk tonight. The horror of the accident has bereft him of his reason. Stewart is 65 years of age and the shock may end his life before he is able to give his evidence. He was the only person who witnessed the plunge of the train from a close point of view. Motorman Scott stuck to his post

Mails Looted

VALUABLE PACKAGES MISSING
Package of $5000 in Union Bank
Bills Disappears, Also Other
Registered Matter

(Bulletin Special.)
Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—The railway mail officials and police authorities are discussing a very mysterious mail robbery, which is believed to have occurred in the vicinity of Elkhorn station on Friday night last and as a result of which the sum of $5,000 as well as other valuable registered matter is missing. The vanished money was enclosed in a registered letter bag which was thrown from the early morning express from Winnipeg and was intended for a station on the Kirkella branch, which runs northwest from Elkhorn. These bags are supposed to be taken possession of by the mail clerk at Elkhorn, but the latter has an arrangement with the night operator at that point by which the bags are kept in his car until the departure of the Kirkella branch. On Saturday morning when the bags reached the mail clerk on the branch train it was found that one of them had been cut open and a valuable registered package extracted. The most important of these was a package of Union bank bills of the denomination of $10, amounting to $5,000, which was sent by the Winnipeg office to their branch on the Kirkella line.

and went down with his train. Conductor Curtis also perished. The third trainman, Wood, proved himself a hero. When the train left the rails and was humping over the ties, Wood ran to the rear door of the last car, threw it wide open and held it for the passengers to escape. He held the door open until the car slid off the bridge and went into the water with it. He then swam to shore. His action in holding the door open probably saved many lives.

Later—Nineteen more bodies have just been brought into the improvised morgue and a diver, who has made a thorough inspection of the submerged cars, stated that at least thirty bodies were still in the coaches. At this hour it is impossible to identify the newly recovered bodies.

The majority of the drowned are Camden or Atlantic City people. Some heroic work was done by the crowd, which gathered to the number of five thousand, and harrowing scenes were witnessed. A woman's jeweled hand was seen sticking out through a ventilator in the roof of one of the cars which was not entirely submerged, and the men chopped excitedly till she was reached. She was dead, however. A number escaped by jumping through the windows and doors when the first crash announced that the first car had left the rails.

Burglar Escaped

POLICE NOT TO BE FOUND

Plucky Calgary Woman Has Him
Rounded up But He Got Away

Calgary, Oct. 27.—Shortly after three o'clock yesterday morning the house of Mrs. D. R. Morrison of 616 Ninth avenue, west, was entered by a burglar and had he not been disturbed he might have made off with considerable booty. As it was he got nothing. Mrs. Morrison had the previous evening attended a party and did not arrive home till the early hours of morning and on going to bed, for some reasons did not sleep. About three o'clock she was aware that someone was moving about the house and on getting out of bed was confronted with a visitor who pointed a revolver at her and said he would fire if she was not quiet.

The burglar apparently thought that a woman was easy and did not attempt to get away. He however, found the opposite, for Mrs. Morrison quickly alarmed two young men who were boarding at the house and when this extra assistance arrived he quickly decamped through the door to the street followed by the two men.

The burglar found himself hard pressed and made for a freight car with his pursuers close at his heels. Seeing no chance of escaping he took to the inside where he held both men at bay. Mrs. Morrison at once went to the barracks, which is only a few yards away, and asked for assistance at the guard room, but was told that it was the city police district, and that she would have to get them. They positively refused to make a move. She then went in search of the city police without success, afterwards telephoning to the station. As no police or assistance arrived, the men who were only attired in their night clothing, had to give up their watch, as the morning was bitterly cold and the snow was falling.

COAL SCARCIE
Calgary, Oct. 27.—The fuel situation is getting somewhat alarming. The extent of this alarm will be somewhat apparent when it is stated that one load of Knox Hill coal sold for $11.50 yesterday.

The reason that the coal prices are soaring so high is because there is no coal to get. This is an unfortunate state of affairs, but nevertheless it is the truth.

AFTER THE REWARDS
Calgary, Oct. 27.—Commissioner Perry of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police came in from Regina yesterday afternoon and left for British Columbia this morning. It is understood that his mission there is to represent the mounted police in the claim for three rewards that have been offered and are about to be distributed for the capture of B. L. Miner and his gang of train robbers.

NOT OVER YET
Calgary, Oct. 27.—It will come as a shock to the many people who were delighted to believe that the labor trouble was a thing of the past to learn that the trouble is not yet over. However, it is more than probable that the trouble will be satisfactorily adjusted before long, as the difficulty is not now one of wages.

BUFFALO STORM
Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 28.—A fierce rain storm prevailed here tonight. The wind reached a velocity of sixty miles per hour and continued to blow at that rate for several hours. Six boats were torn from their moorings at the foot of Porter street and cast high upon the beach. The water in the harbor forced in from the lake by the wind reached the highest stage in years, being flush with the dock at the foot of Main street. All regular trips of the lake steamers have been cancelled for twenty-four hours.

Jersey Man Murders His Wife and Goes Into a Hotel For a Drink

(Bulletin Special.)
Quebec, Oct. 29.—With no apparent provocation George Lecouteur, a Jerseyman 65 years of age, fatally shot his wife, aged 54, yesterday morning as she sat with her daughter on a bench on the Esplanade. Not only was the shooting sudden and unexpected, but in the excitement that followed the murder, the man coolly walked down the street, admitting his crime to some of those he met on the way, telling them at the same time that he was going to have a drink, and actually accomplished his purpose by entering the St. Louis hotel and taking a drink before he was placed under arrest.

CLAIMS A VICTIM

Laboring Man Killed While Alighting
From Street Car

(Bulletin Special.)
Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—A Pearson, a laboring man living at the corner of Mountain avenue and Seymour street, was instantly killed Saturday night by being run over by a street car on Main street. He attempted to alight from a moving car at the corner of Jasper, but swung from the wrong handle. When he struck the pavement his feet flew from under him and he struck heavily on the pavement on his head. Rolling over, his body came beneath the wheels, the rear trucks passing across his chest and shoulders, killing him instantly. He leaves a widow and seven small children, who are absolutely without support.

Windsor Hotel

WILL BE ENLARGED

Contracts Let for Five Story Brick and Steel Structure

Contracts were let on Saturday for the first part of the work necessary for the construction of the new Windsor hotel which is to cost $130,000 and afford accommodation for nearly 300 guests.

The contracts let Saturday were for moving the old building off the lot adjoining the present Windsor hotel and for excavating for the foundation. The intention is to let the contract for the basement at once and to go as far ahead with the work this fall as possible so that construction can be commenced at as early a date in the spring as the weather will permit, probably in March. Alex. McLaughlin, who has the contract to move the building now occupying the premises commenced work this morning and Mr. Matheson, who has the excavation contract will follow at once.

The undertaking which has now been commenced has been contemplated by the owners, Messrs. McDougall, Secord and York for some time, but owing to the difficulty of securing material and the scarcity of labor it was not considered advisable to go ahead with the work during the season just closing. They now hope by making an early start in the spring to get the building far enough advanced to be in a position to handle a large part of next season's trade.

Competitive plans for the building have been called for from several architects, none of which are yet completed, but the general lines to be followed call for a five story structure the full size of the two lots, 107 feet on Jasper by 150 on First street. The intention is to build a new brick and stone building and when this is completed to run the present building up to more stories so as to match the addition. The old building is six feet in from the street line on both streets, and the intention is to build a new wall on the street line all around the present building and carry the floors out to the new wall.

The basement of the new building will be ten feet below the street line and two feet high, a barber shop, bath room, billiard room and cigar stand will be put in this basement. The office and bar will occupy the ground floor and the dining room will be reconstructed to occupy almost the entire ground floor of the present building. The first floor up will be laid out in suits, baths and furnished in the most luxurious manner. The entire house will be steam heated, furnished with modern plumbing, telephone system and all the most modern features, including electrical operated freight and passenger elevators. The plans call for every room having its own window lights.

The building is to be of brick and steel with stone trimmings and is to be as near fire proof as the science of architecture can provide. There will be, all told, 150 bed rooms in the house.

ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

Late Proprietor Of Grill Restaurant
Caught At Bonda

Mr. R. H. Ansell, proprietor of the Grill cafe, and his wife, were arrested yesterday afternoon by an officer of the R. N. W. M. P., at Bonda, station on the C. N. R., a few miles east of Warman, for the alleged defrauding of several Edmonton creditors.

The warrant for the arrest was issued at the instance of K. W. Pickell, jeweller, of this city, from whom Ansell purchased two diamond rings and a bracelet, amounting to $295, and upon which only $30 was paid. Mr. Pickell says that he has been suspicious since the 19th of October, and had Ansell and his wife shadowed and located every twelve hours since the above date. Thirty-five minutes after the Winnipeg express left the C. N. R. station here Mr. Pickell discovered that Ansell had left the city. Upon enquiry at the Grill he was told by (Ansell) had gone shooting in the neighborhood of Lloydminster. "On the suspicion that he had gone shooting with my diamonds in his pocket I had him arrested," said Mr. Pickell.

A warrant for his arrest was taken out at 10 p.m. Saturday evening and the R. N. W. M. P. put on the track. Immediately despatches were sent to the various stations on the C. N. R. as far as Winnipeg and last night a telegram was received that Ansell had been located at Bonda and arrested about four o'clock in the afternoon and will be brought back to Edmonton at once.

Other creditors are involved in Ansell's operations. Last week he made several large purchases in Revillon Bros., Hudson's Bay and McDougall & Secord's, which are said to have been paid in part with worthless cheques. Revillon's are sufferers to the extent of $250, Hudson's Bay $195, McDougall & Secord $120, Stanley & Jackson $40, A. Bruce Powley $20, P. Burns & Co. $50, Mr. Lalonde $40 and others. Yesterday Grant Mahood, chief waiter at the Grill, received a telegram from Ansell saying he would be back on Monday night to put Sunday's receipts in the bank and keep things running.

The waiters were all in place to-day and prepared dinner as usual. A considerable number of meal tickets are outstanding. The waiters were of the opinion Mr. Ansell intended to return.

MAN AND HIS DRESS

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, a London Lady of Wide Renown, Discusses the Sterner Sex.

In an article on Men's Dress, Mrs. Beattie O'Connor, wife of T. P. O'Connor, M.P., says that "Some men are vain enough to imagine that neither men nor women pay any attention to the clothes of a man. There never was a greater mistake than this. Surely, women, who are constantly studying the cut, the lines and the fashion of their own clothes, necessarily observe the cut and the fashion of men's habiliments."

"It was rather the custom of man to associate the idea of a well-dressed man with an empty top," she forcibly writes, "but the modern man has an eye for beauty and appropriateness of attire, combined with great cleverness in other directions."

The Semi-Ready idea in men's dress permits the wearer to see as suit as it will look when he wears it. He does it at the Semi-Ready Wardrobe just as it stands ready to finish up. Tailors' superbly, designed in a smart and cultured style, the fabrics are the best from England's mills. The modern man knows that muffs and cheap materials are not economical, for one's success in both social and business life depends upon good tailoring. There is a Semi-Ready tailoring shop in nearly all the chief towns of Canada. Kelly & Moore will show the real Semi-Ready label to anyone. It is on the inside pocket of coats, trousers and overcoats.

THE DARKER SIDE

A traveller interviewed by the Winnipeg Free Press outlines one of the less admirable sides of the Japanese character—a phase which has not been unheard of before by any means, but the serious possibilities of which to Japan herself are brought out forcibly by the informant. If his statements are substantially correct, the splendid commercial position which has been won by Japanese force of intellect is in grave danger of collapsing for want of a solid foundation of moral integrity in the Japanese character and courts. The Free Press says—

"Claiming that he had been almost ruined and driven from the flowery kingdom by the perfidy of the Japanese, Charles E. Jennings, who has followed the vacation of a trader in the Orient, passed through Winnipeg yesterday on his way to England. To a reporter for the Free Press Mr. Jennings made the startling statement that in ten years there would not be a foreigner in Japan and that commercially the nation would suffer a speedy downfall owing to a lack of commercial morals. The Japanese have no such thing as commercial integrity or honesty and are banded together to protect each other in any illegal undertaking to dup and rob the foreigner."

"Today Japan is no place for a trader or any person desiring to carry on a business in which he is forced to enter upon any agreement with a native. The abolition of the consular courts killed trade and ruined hundreds. In the consular courts a native would be forced to keep a contract and a contract entered into by an Englishman was subject to British law. These courts were abolished and most of the independent traders have departed. Only a few are left and nearly all the foreigners in the country represent firms out of it, and have no personal interests at stake in the island."

"For instance Mr. Jennings says he contracted with an English house for the supplying of a cargo of Japanese woods for cabinet makers and in turn contracted with a native for its supply at a certain date. A portion of the total cost was paid to the wily Jap, but he ignored the contract. Mr. Jennings lost his deposit given in good faith to the British firm and also what he had paid the Jap. He had gone to the trouble and expense of hiring a Japanese lawyer and as the unfaithful contractor had not taken the trouble to depart, but continued making contracts which he did not intend to keep, Mr. Jennings had him arrested. He was found guilty and sentenced to one year in jail. Last out of the court and chucked the culprit apparently departed for the prison, but the very next day he was back to his office looking for more contracts with foolish foreigners' deposits. In the meantime the steamer chartered to carry the cargo to England had waited and more money had to go to appease the owners."

"Why don't you get out that wood?" Mr. Jennings asked frequently; but the Jap complained that it was too hot or too dry. If these were unwarranted by the weather conditions they were treated to too cold or too wet. The Jap was always evasive and if Mr. Jennings said it was not, wet he would reply, "There is no rain, but it looks as though it is not my fault, but it is not convenient to get out the wood when the rain might catch us."

"In the meantime trade is falling off, the Jap is coralling everything and soon will have every foreigner out of his country and a shattered foreign trade which will take years of healthy growth to resuscitate."

CURRENT COMMENT

A Mr. Wilson has already re-nominated Mr. R. L. Borden. Well done Wilson.

At present the late manager of the late Ontario bank and the late "director" of the same institution appear to be simulating the defunct manager of Alphonse and Gaston, and each is willing that the other should receive the distinction of having accomplished the splendid feat. However this may be the shareholder has lost his money and under the law is liable for double the amount of his stock. Some of the shareholders do not appear to accept this with equanimity and promptly to make trouble—provided always it can be decided to whom the trouble is due. The indications at present are that a measure of it is coming to all concerned. If the manager gambled in stocks and falsified returns there is surely something owing to him; if the president certified those returns he should not be forgotten; if the directors did not direct they were surely guilty of negligence, and if they did direct in the course which was taken they were guilty of worse than negligence.

A correspondent writes the Bulletin: "It is time a curb was put on the actions of some individuals to destroy and deface property. Some of the residents of the city take pleasure and go to a great deal of expense in beautifying and improving their homes and surroundings, while others take pleasure in the opposite and doing damage to their neighbors' property. W. A. Hazlett has had a fine fence, costing nearly $300, erected around his property, at the corner of Twelfth and Jasper, this summer, and its appearance has been nearly destroyed by vandals whose identity the owner of the property is anxious to learn. The incident is by no means unprecedented and illustrates the necessity of continually enlarging the area of the city under police surveillance. To 'police' every street in the entire city is neither possible nor necessary, but the area covered by the men on the 'beats' should be broadened continually these days when increase of population is planting hitherto unoccupied sections with residences and turning sparsely settled sections into congested districts. To do this the force must be continually increased but the expense is unavoidable, and if the officers be efficient it is money well spent."

The One Right Steel Plate Range

Until we found out just the right way to use asbestos to keep the heat in a cooking range where it must cook the food instead of cooking the cook—every steel-plate range kept the kitchen boiling-hot. This range is a cool range—the top shield and lining is thick asbestos, so the heat stays inside the range and keeps over evenly hot. Food is better cooked, quicker cooked and cooked for less fuel-cost.

A Range That Burns All the Coal

OST likely you have been throwing away good coal every day without knowing it. Coal that is only partially burned in the fire-box.

Because, with the ordinary range draft, the air current only strikes part of the fire. Usually the damper door on such a range is situated at one end of the fire-box, which makes your fire hot at the draft end and cold at the other end.

Or the damper is perhaps on the left side of the stove, which makes an uneven fire for the same reason.

You are not only losing fuel, but your cooking and baking is unsatisfactory, for you cannot get a uniform heat.

Now, the draft in a Monarch Range is entirely different.

Instead of one damper door, there are two, one in each end of the fire-box.

These form a double or Duplex Draft, and both are regulated by the same handle.

So you get two direct currents of air at the same time, and your fire burns smoothly and evenly.

VERMILION.

Vermilion, Oct. 27.—A special meeting of the town council was held last evening to meet General Superintendent Brown, of the C. N. R., with the object of arranging for immediate fire protection for the town. Mr. Brown spoke in a very cordial manner and said the company would grant the council permission to install two hydrants connecting with the tank supply pipe and would also give them the use of their pumps, both at the foot of the hill and in the round house. Mr. Brown also stated the company intended in the near future to fence and fix up the block in front of the town which was set apart for a park.

A very pleasant social evening was given by the people of the Methodist church on Thursday to celebrate the Harvest Thanksgiving. A supper was set out by the ladies in Craig's hall and was followed by a concert which was well attended and was certainly a great credit to the organizers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Henry returned last evening from a short visit to the Capital, and are now settled in their new home. Mr. Henry, in company with Mr. R. Mitchell, has taken a three-year lease of the Vermilion hotel, owned by Mr. E. Connors, who is going back to Rainy River for a time.

KILLED BY WHISKEY.

Strathcona Plaindealer: A horrible tragedy is reported from Blackfalds, which resulted in the death of a five-year-old boy named Charles Stevenson. The evidence of the father at the inquest tells the story.

He testified that he had purchased a bottle of whiskey on Monday, Oct. 8th, and on going to bed had placed it under his pillow. In the morning he took a drink from the bottle and went to sleep again. When called sometime later by his wife the child who had slept in the same bed with him was drinking out of the bottle. He took it away from the boy, corked it, and threw it under the bed. Witness had his breakfast and went to work. During the forenoon he was sent for by his wife and as soon as he reached home he telegraphed and phoned for Dr. Simpson. The doctor arrived about noon and remained until eight or nine o'clock at night. The boy died about five o'clock next morning.

The verdict of the jury was as follows: "In our opinion Charles Stevenson died through misadventure, the cause of death being acute alcoholism, caused by drinking a quantity of whiskey. We attach no blame to anyone."

Geo. Myers recently a resident of Andrew has gone east to study medicine.

Mrs. Hawke wife of the late chief Hawke a noted hunter of the plains is dead. A local rifle club has been organized and has begun target practice. The ranges are at the N.W. angl of Whitford Lake. Quite a large number have been enrolled. Root. Menning is the captain. The result of the recent shoot is as follows:—1st Cecil Wankenshaw; 2nd Mr. Alexander; 3rd Corporal Watt.

MINBURN.

Minburn, Alta., Oct. 25.—Minburn is one of the finest and best localities along the C.N.R. is now rapidly pushing ahead and although being one of the last to be surveyed which was only about two months ago has already eleven buildings and others expected to be built soon. Among those at present are a post office of no mean character, a general store and a lumber yard. Each of the two above mentioned business places in Minburn any Eastern town or city would be proud of. Several town lots are sold and many business men are speaking strongly of building a feed stable, hotel, restaurant also bakery. The lay of the land adjoining the townsite and for miles around is excellent and of good rich soil. In the immediate townsite the soil being lighter makes it a beautiful spot for a good healthy town, not enough a good healthy town, not enough stone to incumber work but sufficient to build. Farther east more stone exists making the land harder to work and it is still a little soil. South it is a little more rolling but good soil. About four miles west is Birch Lake. North of Minburn and mostly settled is some of the best land in Alberta, and excellent road lead to Minburn in all directions. Minburn is also situated in the midst of some of the best settlers in the North-West, no foreign element to speak of, all English speaking and of the eastern or southern energetic farm ers. Plenty of fuel close to town. Small quantities of coal have been found near.

The Canadian Pacific Irrigation Project

(Scientific American)

(By Kittredge Wheeler)

The province of Alberta which is seven hundred miles long and four hundred miles wide is situated west of Saskatchewan, east of British Columbia and north of Montana. The southern part of this great province is called Sunny Alberta and the name is well earned. It is a land of mild winters and a perennial sunshine. The soft kiss of the Japan current and the warm breath of Chinook winds are felt through its sheltered valleys and open plains, and horses and cattle range at will the winter through without being fed or sheltered.

The main water supply is the noble Bow River, which heads the great divide, well up in the heart of the Rockies, whose peaks are covered with perpetual snow; whose deep and rugged chasms are the glacier's home, and therefore the source of an inexhaustible water supply—the winter's store for summer's need. Unlike many other rivers, the banks of the Bow are not steep-cut below the plain, but are near the lands to be irrigated and the Bow River at low water is more than double the demand.

In Canada all the rivers belong to the crown, and are under the immediate supervision of the government; they are measured and noted out by government officials, so that the water right is as good as the land title, and the stipulated supply is guaranteed with both.

The great tract to be irrigated by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company lies in southern Alberta between Calgary and Medicine Hat. It is one hundred and fifty miles in length and forty miles in width, lying between Red Deer River on the north and the Bow River on the south, and through its very centre runs the iron way of the Transcontinental Railway.

This great irrigation block is the largest individual block on the continent, comprising over 3,000,000 of acres and it presents the happy combination of irrigable and non-irrigable areas in desirable portions for grazing and crops, for ordinary and intensive farming.

In laying out this undertaking, the block has been subdivided into three main divisions of eastern, central and western sections, containing about 1,000,000 acres each. The irrigation development is beginning with the western section.

The great plain comprising the block has a natural incline from west to east of some eleven hundred feet, and lends itself readily to the location of the great canal and secondary ditches. The main canal of the western section terminates in a natural reservoir 3 miles long, 1-2 mile wide and 40 feet deep. From this reservoir extend the secondary canals A, B, and C, which are 30 feet wide at the bottom and 60 feet wide at the water line, and these carry 3 feet of water, and their combined length is 150 miles. From these secondary canals the distributing ditches run over the plain, aggregating in the great western section alone a total length of some 800 miles, making a grand total for the western section of 967 miles of main water canals, exclusive of the farmer's laterals.

In most other irrigation projects on this continent the general plan has been to carry water in a secondary canal or ditch to a point near a considerable area to be irrigated, and then leave the farmers to combine in digging ditches, at their own expense, to deliver the water to their several farms; but this company is making the signal departure of carrying the water direct to each individual farm, leaving nothing for the farmer to do but open up the small furrow laterals on his own lands.

The construction of the canal in the western section with its hundreds of miles of secondary canals and distributing ditches has been a large and expensive undertaking. The engineering surveys have been rigidly scientific and exhaustively performed, the contours of the entire western section being located to 5-foot intervals. In the two remaining sections of over 2,000,000 acres it is intended to complete the topographical surveys to show contour elevation within the remarkably close scale of one foot, and in all the sections, the maps showed the exact acreage of irrigable land on each farm.

The total excavation in the main canal of the western section was approximately 2,500,000 cubic yards; secondary canals A, B, and C about 5,000,000 cubic yards, and in the distributing ditches 750,000 cubic yards, making a grand total excavation for the western section of 8,250,000 cubic yards. At one point it was necessary to cut away the top of a jutting cliff 1,600 feet long, 180 feet wide and 100 feet deep.

Steam shovels and small construction locomotives were used in excavating the large canals and ditches and in carrying out the earth, and wherever possible elevating graders were used, employing steam and horse power. In the construction of banks the greatest care and skill have been shown. The porous surface soil has been stripped off and the harder clay and excavated soils have been used for filling in depressions and building gin the banks. In building the banks the soil was put on in layers, wetted down, and then packed by rollers to make them strong and water-tight, so there is little danger of breakage or loss from seepage. The soil through which the canals are dug is very hard and clayey, so there is little seepage or erosion.

The intake receives the water as has been stated, from the Bow River some two miles below Calgary, and when the water was first let on, although only two of the twenty headgates were open, that is, only one tenth of its possible flow, yet in the very short space of forty-six hours the water had reached the extreme end of the main canal, a distance of seventeen miles, and the difference in level at the intake and the end of the canal was only one inch. This was a remarkable slowing and speaks well for the engineering skill displayed in locating and constructing the canal. A large amount of heavy timber has been used in the construction. At the great intake, just below Calgary, for the protection of the headgates, a double row of heavy piling has been driven along the river's front for several hundred yards. Farther down the main canal a large spillway has been produced by means of which, in case of needed repair, or for any other cause, the water can be entirely drained off into the Bow River.

At several points on the main and secondary canals the slope of country necessitated the construction of falls or "drops" which carry the water safely to the levels below without erosion of slides or bed.

If the same proportion of mileage and excavation obtains in extending the irrigation system through the central and eastern sections of the block, this scheme will ultimately embrace a total of 22,900 miles of canal, and the excavation of the enormous mass of 24,750,000 cubic yards of material.

The Bow River has an abundant natural storage, not only in the deep snows and mighty glaciers of the Rockies, but also in the many mountain lakes which pour their overflow into the river. Devils Lake alone is 12 miles long, 1-2 miles wide, and 40 feet deep and its great basin is available for storage. In addition there are many other places where the storage of enormous bodies of water can be effected, but the river has in itself a capacity of 6,000 cubic feet per second during the irrigation season.

It may be of special interest to note that the water is being supplied to the farmer in this great scheme at 50 cents per acre per annum, the duty being 1 cubic foot per second, flowing continuously for 150 acres, and in selling irrigable land an allowance of 10 per cent of the area is made for the space to be occupied by farm buildings, etc. Demonstration farms have been opened in the western section, and next year will show the wonderful possibilities of the irrigation of land under this canal in Southern Alberta.

In comparison with other irrigation undertakings the project of the Canadian Pacific Company is the largest on this continent and ranks with the great irrigations schemes of the world. I have ridden on donkeys or walked over rich irrigated strips of old Egypt, but Egypt from Cairo to the First Cataract of the majestic Nile, is small compared with the great domain contained in the irrigation block. The abundant water supply, the easy slope of the land, the rich and level country through which the great canal runs, with all the possibilities of the most diversified farming, the happy combination of grazing and irrigable lands in the same quarter section, the absolute security of the water right from the Crown, and the supply of water needed during the irrigation season, guaranteed by the Dominion Government—all these conditions promise a bright future for irrigation in Southern Alberta.

It is filling up rapidly with farmers from the Western and Central States. Ninety-five per cent of the present settlers in this part of the province are Americans. This great irrigation block has room for half a million people and a capacity to feed two millions. The Canadian Pacific Railway has entrusted the development and completion of this great project to Mr. J. S. Denola, a well-known civil engineer of the Dominion, now assistant to the second vice-president of the road and his skill and indomitable determination have had much to do with its present realization and its great future possibilities.

MANITOBA'S CASE.

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—The province of Manitoba has submitted its "case," consisting of several printed pages, to the Dominion Government in support of its claim for an extension of its boundaries. This claim will be heard at Ottawa on Nov. 12. The case sets forth that in 1870 at confederation Manitoba had an area of 13,500 square miles. In 1881, the population having increased the limits of the province were enlarged, west, north and east so as to give a total area of 154,000 square miles. The question arose with the province Ontario as to the location of the boundary, which was referred to the Privy Council resulted in 1884 in a decision reducing Manitoba's area from 154,000 square miles to 73,732 square miles, which is the present area of the province. Before the judgment of the Privy Council Manitoba had asked for an extension of provincial boundaries west to the 102nd meridian and north to Hudson's Bay.

The northern extension was asked so that the Province might have Fort Churchill on Hudson's Bay. It is claimed that the Hudson's Bay route had been for a period of 200 years the only means of communication with the civilized world, that it was the route by which early settlers were brought in by Lord Selkirk, that any seaport on Hudson's Bay would be nearer to Manitoba than any other province, and that in the near future it will necessarily be embraced within municipal organization. Furthermore the farming community of Manitoba have a more direct stake in the Hudson's Bay route than the people of the other provinces. In 1901 the Manitoba legislature unanimously passed a resolution declaring that as the area of the province is small compared with that of most of the other provinces, while the machinery of Government is sufficient to maintain a much larger territory, there are districts adjacent to Manitoba which should be joined to it, as their agricultural, educational and commercial interests are in a great measure common and they could be more economically administered as a part of the province. Therefore the legislature prayed that the boundary of Manitoba might be extended northward to Hudson's Bay. In the years 1902, 1905 and 1906 similar resolutions were adopted by the Manitoba Legislature, asking for an enlargement of the provincial boundary and rectifying the reasons for the same. When the bills creating the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were before the Federal Parliament representations from Manitoba again urged the extension of the Provincial boundary to the northward, and speaking on the autonomy bills, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the demand of Manitoba was entitled to fair consideration.

The Manitoba representatives argue that the population of Manitoba having increased from 62,260 in 1881 to 363,000 in 1906, the province, on the broad principle of equity and right, is entitled to have its contracted area materially increased. Furthermore it is entitled to the increased area to enable it to occupy the independent position contemplated by the spirit of confederation and to be placed upon a proportionate equality as to area with the other provinces.

TROUBLE AT THE SUGAR FACTORY

Raymond, Oct. 23. — Raymond has reached an importance which entitles us to everything going, and as labor agitation is so important a consideration elsewhere, to be in the swim, we must have at least a suggestion of it here. The first intimation the manager had of disquietude was on Monday, when the firemen preferred a request that they be given eight hour shifts instead of twelve, with the same pay they were getting. That concession was not made, but an agreement was decided upon which gave the firemen $3.25 per day working a twelve hour shift.

Some agitation was made looking to the involving of the whole working force for an advance in pay, although who the agitators were or what was demanded by them could not be learned.

Mr. Ellison, the manager, was very emphatic in his statement to the effect that the factory would be shut down before demands regarded as unreasonable would be complied with.

It is claimed that most of the men were satisfied with their compensation and were not in sympathy with the movement attempted by a few malcontents, and at present everything is going smoothly.

Mr. Ellison said the wages being paid by the Knight sugar factory are in advance of what men are receiving for the same work in the factories throughout the inter-mountain region.

The crews are settling to their work and the output of sugar is increasing it being about eight hundred bags daily.

Beets have been coming in lively and the supply on hand guarantees no lack of them unless the storm should continue some days.

A rumor to the effect that the factory will not open next year is most persistent, though this management is decidedly non-committal as to confirmation or denial. It is said that some of the directors are not satisfied with the support beet raisers have given the factory and are of the opinion that a shut down for a year would produce a salutary effect.

CITY NEWS

THE CASTLE HOTEL

The new Castle hotel will be opened this week. The hotel is a very fine building of solid brick and has been built under the most rigid inspection and careful workmanship. It consists of four flats and a basement, and is designed to a certain extent after the style of the ancient baronial castles of England, as is readily suggested by its carved walls. The entrance and stairway is especially after the models of the English castles. The entrance at the corner leads into the rotunda from which a winding stair leads to the top storey.

The floors throughout are covered with cortice while the rotunda and dining-room are beautifully decorated in Egyptian style in colors and material.

The dining room is forty-five feet by thirty-five feet with two Egyptian pillars down the centre and chandeliers of electric lights over each table. The kitchen is large and spacious and equipped with every modern convenience. The bar is quarter cut oak with solid mahogany tops with the same material in the back bar. A cosy little office room and well-appointed writing and reading room completes the equipment of the ground floor.

The bed rooms are each supplied with steam coils. The top rooms have heavier coils to give a larger amount of heat and maintain a uniform temperature in each flat. Each room is fitted with an electric signal system of return call bells. The rooms are furnished with antique oak furniture.

HOCKEY MEETING

There will be a meeting of the intermediate hockey club in J. Banford's office, Second street. Business of importance will be transacted and a large turnout of members is requested.

FIRE AT STRATHCONA

Strathcona, Oct. 29.—The fire brigade was given a run yesterday to Walter's mill, where a fire had started in a slab embankment just a few yards west of the mill. This embankment had been built several years ago to keep the earth from sliding, and consisted of a palisade of boards filled with slabs and saw dust. The high wind prevailing at the time made it very difficult to keep the fire in check, and the chemical engine, the only fire apparatus brought down, was found insufficient to cope with the destroying element. Nearly half an hour was wasted waiting for the engine to arrive, during which time the fire was kept from extending too far by a hastily formed bucket brigade. Steam was also gotten up in the mill yard and between the two short work was made of the fire. The cause is unknown but it is surmised that hot ashes from the cook house started the blaze. Had the fire gained any headway and reached the saw dust and lumber piles nearby the mill itself could not have been saved. Mr. Bruce Thomas, one of the firemen, had the misfortune to severely injure his right eye through being splashed with water from the hose, breaking several of the small blood vessels.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Graydon has issued invitations for a tea on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Eredit, inspector of foreign colonies, left for Regina yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles May, Third street will receive Thursday Nov. 1st and afterwards on the first and third Thursday of each month.

Mr. A. S. Roberts, brother of the late Mr. Roberts who recently died at Lesser Slave Lake, left yesterday for a visit to the coast.

—Mr. Edward O'Kelly, Canadian Government agent at Belfast Ireland is spending a few days in town. He arrived over the C.N.R. last night and expressed himself as greatly pleased with the appearance of the country along the line. Mr. O'Kelly is an Irishman by birth, but came to Canada in 1867. He resided here for fifteen years and for the past eight or nine years has represented the Canadian Government in Belfast. He visited Edmonton in 1891 and again in 1891 and is surprised at the progress made by the city and by the western country generally.

—Captain John Bredin of Kingston arrived in the city yesterday from the east. Capt. Bredin is a relative of F. W. Bredin, M.P.P. for Athabasca. He was in Edmonton in 1874 having crossed the prairie from Winnipeg in command of troop "A" N.W.M.P. Then Edmonton had no hotel and few buildings except the Hudson's Bay post. Capt. Bredin had not seen Winnipeg since 1874 until two weeks ago. He and two other gentlemen Moberly and McDonnell took the first locomotive over the Red Deer River at Winnipeg, by laying the ties and rails on the ice. Capt. Bredin intends to winter in Edmonton.
